

Christoph Kiziak is heading the Microbial Research & Technology Team within Lonza Pharma & Biotech since 2015. He holds a degree in Technical Biology from the University of Stuttgart and joined Lonza 2003 as Project Leader within the Microbial Strain Development Department working with various bacterial and yeast organisms like Pseudomonas, E. coli, Bacillus, Pichia, Yarrowia etc. In 2010 he was appointed as Program Manager for Microbial Innovation and led strategic projects for process yield improvement and development time reduction.